

From: Melanie Turner []
Sent: 16 March 2020 13:31
To: Matthew Diamond <Matthew.Diamond@exeter.gov.uk>
Subject: Harlequins Redevelopment

I object to this Co-(rona)Living proposal.

Given the fast spread of the Corona Virus in overpopulated areas, it is now blatantly obvious that shared bedsit like accommodations like Co-living developments with hundreds of transient renters using shared kitchens and bathrooms are an irresponsible risk to public health. With a rapid decline of air travel in times of infectious disease and falling numbers of overseas visitors/ overseas students WHO will live in these developments where rooms are barely big enough for one person and facilities have to be shared with others? Disease control, sanitation and potential cross infection have to now be a major consideration for all development. The space between individuals is of paramount importance to preventing disease transmitting from one to another.

Exeter City Council, please act responsibly!

Melanie Turner,
51 Northernhay Street,
Exeter,
EX4 3ER.