

Pl. 1 General view of the southeastern end of the site, with the Water Lane Solar Farm and Exeter Energy Recovery Centre visible in the background. Looking southeast.

Pl. 2 General view of Water Lane and the canal, with the historic core and 18th-20th century suburbs visible in the background. Looking northwest.

Pl. 3 General view Water Lane and the canal, with the 19th-20th century suburbs, including the St Leonards Church spire, visible in the background. Looking north.

Pl. 4 General view of Building 1, showing its position within the hollow at the southeast of the site, with concrete ramp to the left, rising to building 2. Looking northwest.

Pl. 5 General view of the southeastern end of the site showing Building 1 in the centre, Building 2 in the background and the railway line forming the southwestern site boundary to the left. Looking northwest.

Pl. 6 General view of southeast end of building 2. Looking northwest.

Pl. 7 General view of the northwest end of Building 2. Looking southeast.

Pl. 8 General view of Building 3 in the centre, Building 2 in the background, the railway line forming the southeastern site boundary to the right and Marsh Barton industrial estate beyond. Looking southeast.

Pl. 9 General view of Building 3 in the centre, with Building 4 visible behind the small portacabin to the left. The 19th-20th century suburbs, including County Hall, are visible in the background. Looking northwest.

Pl. 10 General view of the northwest end of Building 4 from Water Lane, with the tall chimney of Building 2 visible in the left background. Looking south.

Pl. 11 General view from Building 4 across the canal showing the 19th-20th century suburbs, with the Acorn development visible in the middle background. Looking northwest.

Pl. 12 General view of Building 5 with Buildings 6 and 10 to the right. Looking west.

Pl. 13 General view of Buildings 6 and 7. Looking west.

Pl. 14 General view across the late 20th century River Meadows development towards the canal and the 19th-20th century suburbs. Looking northeast.

Pl. 15 General view of Building 9 in the foreground and Buildings 10 and 11 in the background. Looking west.

Pl. 16 General view across the late 20th century Gabriel's Wharf development towards the canal and the 19th-20th century suburbs. Looking northeast.